NATIONAL SET-UP TO REDUCE SPEED

Club Members Are Asked To Observe Forty-Mile Speed Limit For Duration

Chicago, April 27.—Co-ordinating the "Not Over Fifty" club with the national conservation drive, a new creed has been adopted for all members: "Not Over Forty For The Duration." James S. Kemper, president of the Lumbermen Mutual Casualty Company sponsoring organization of the "Not Over Fifty" club, announced today.

Originally limiting top speed to fifty miles per hour, the primary code of the club will reduce top speed an additional ten miles per hour to conform with the forty-mile-an-hour limit which is receiving favorable recognition throughout the country. Limiting top speed is only one of the ten precepts of the "Not Over Fifty" club, a safety organization with over 340,000 safe-driver members, all interested in reducing the toll of life and limb on the highways.

"If all motorists had observed the creed of Not Over Fifty," this during 1941, much of the current shortage of vital automobile materials could have been relieved," Mr. Kemper stated. "Actually, if all motorists had limited their top speed to fifty miles per hour last year, they could have saved over 130,000 gallons of gasoline, 7,600,000 quarts of oil and 750,000 tires."

These estimates, which were based on known driving habits of the American motorist and data on the decreased operating efficiency of automobiles at higher speeds, do not include the waste in manpower and medical facilities. Not only would the number of physically fit men and women be greatly increased, but facilities of doctors and nurses which would be released of civilian requirements would also be diverted to more productive channels. The program means not only the realization of skilled medical assistance for military use, but would mean the release of gauze bandages and expensive medical equipment for the war effort.

The possibility of a great saving in manpower is also disclosed as a result of the analysis of accident statistics developed in countries where there are army camps, cantonments and induction centers, from which it was learned that these areas developed an accident frequently 28 per cent greater in 1941 than in 1940. As a further indication that these areas are a serious problem in the national accident picture, it was learned that increases in these areas were more than twice as great as the country-wide increases for the same period.

In reviewing nationwide fatalities, increases of 16 per cent in December, 1941, 8 per cent in January, 1942, and a decrease of 8 per cent in February, 1942, indicate that fatalities are being reduced in comparison to a year ago. With further reduction in miles driven as motorists co-operate in the conservation program, it is hoped fatalities will be reduced even further.

"Speed and congestion continue to be the outstanding hazards in defense areas where it is necessary to move great masses of men and material over roads and highways originally designed for light passenger traffic," Mr. Kemper stated further in commenting upon the data developed by the Lumbermen Mutual Casualty Company, sponsor of the "Not Over Fifty" club. "The name of our safety club for motorists will remain the same, but it is dedicated to limiting speed to forty miles per hour for the duration. It is through the realization that speed will be an important factor in solving the accident problem, and the conscientious effort of American motorists to avoid accidents by driving sanely under all conditions, that the problem can be placed under control."

PLANT THAT YOUTH BUILD

Known to Savannahians as the plant that youth build, this is the National Youth Administration's latest resident work experience center, designed to provide out-of-school young people with work experience which will qualify them for jobs in war industries. Three barracks, each housing 40 boys, are to the left. The modern 200-capacity dining hall is in the foreground. The five steel shop buildings—welding, sheet metal, wood, auto mechanics, machines—are in the rear. All buildings on the project were fabricated and constructed by NYA boys. Now those boys are at work in the various shop units actually producing for the armed services and at the same time acquiring the necessary skills making them eligible for America's battle of production.

EXHIBIT A.

We, the changing committee appointed by the October, 1941, grand jury to inspect the convict camp and make an inventory of the county's changing property, beg to submit the following report:

There are twenty-nine men in the camp—two white county, sixteen state colored, and eleven county colored—all well and on the road to work in good health and being properly cared for.

We inspected the kitchen, convict cages and quarters of the superintendent and guards, mules and harness, and all other equipment, and found them in good condition.

The living quarters were in good sanitary condition and the sleeping quarters were in every way comfortable. The equipment was in good condition and very little depreciation is noted.

FOOD CHAIN TO AID POTATO GROWERS

Organized Campaign To Provide Larger Market For Georgia Market

New York, April 27.—An intensive 8-day drive to further reduce existing surpluses of Georgia sweet potatoes has been started by the A. & P. Tea Company, which during a similar drive in March boosted its purchases to 26,230 bushels, an increase of 74.2 per cent over the corresponding week last year, in assisting growers of the south to market their high quality but excessive supplies.

Southern sweets are being pushed in super-markets and stores of the chain all over the country from April 24 through May 2 at the request of growers who still find their potato houses overstocked. The U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates a surplus of 1,500,000 bushels in the year-growing areas of the south.

The department says that Georgia potato houses are now stocked with 500,000 bushels—the largest surplus of any of the year-producing states. This surplus is from the 1941 crop of 7,245,000 bushels, which was an increase of 1,365,000 bushels over the production of the previous year.

The present surplus, however, has had little effect on the planting plans of Georgia growers for this year. A survey of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the Department of Agriculture indicates that the state's 1942 crop will be equal to that of last year.

EXHIBIT B

We, the committee appointed to examine the books of the various justices of the peace and notaries public for the county, submit the following report:

The criminal and civil dockets of the 44th, 48th, 1209th and 1523rd districts have been examined and found to be correct. No criminal docket was presented.

No books at all were presented from the 44th, 48th, 1340th, 1547th, 1575th and 1803rd districts. We find several leaks in court house which should be checked and repaired.

We recommend light and switch accessible to bottom of back stairway. We find the caps on top of columns are cracked and unsafe and recommend they be checked and repaired. Also some of the metal on the cornice at front of court house over the school superintendent's office needs repair.

We find the jail in very good condition, very well kept, but some leaks reported which should be repaired.

HOW'S THE CHOW, BUDDY?

(The rhyme was submitted by Albert Powell, the Bulloch Times' personal representative in Camp Davis, N. C., who explains, "This poem is only a joke, we have excellent food up here, and no one could find fault with it.")

Who knows, who knows, where they get the chow
That they feed in the army? the soldiers mean;

The beef must come from the kind of cow
Built of fat, skin, gristle and bone,
And bred and in-bred till the pitiful wreck

Is half of it tail and the rest of it neck
Supported by sticks attached to its feet,
Completely and utterly stripped of its meat.

So weak and anemic it's almost unable
To finish the trip to the soldier's table.

Who knows, who knows, where they get the glue
Which goes by the label of

Well, I don't know, and neither do you,
But the smell of it makes me rear up.

The books all say that it comes from sap
In maple trees that the farmers tap;
Heats it;
But I say the sap is the one who eats it.

Since it tastes like a boot the soldiers agree
That what they tap is a rubber tree.

Where, oh where, do they get the "frank"
That makes soldiers their appetites lose;
Which in mess hall feeding takes first rank—

And "frank" is the word to use—
That cylinder known as the old hot dog.

Now, doubtless frankfurters have been used
But they fight like hell with the gastric juices,
With after-effects which resemble a
And put you into the great guard house.

So please, Mr. Einstein, tell us how
And where they obtain the army chow?

Carr-Buncle Pains

Cliff Bradley is in a jam. He is in business for himself. He is also on the local tire rationing board. The board keeps him busy and bored. Now he is asking the board to ration him time so that he can look after his business so that he can earn a living so that he can look after the board so that the board can keep business "rolling."

If we could show the same skill in stretching rubber that the Germans have shown in stretching the truth, our rubber shortage problem would be solved.

Member 'way back when we used to quote:

Roses are red,
Violets are blue,
Sugar is sweet,
And so are you.

Let's try this:
Russians are red,
But the Japs are yellow;
Let's give them Hell

You can finish it any way you prefer, but be sure to burn the yellow into a nice crispy brown. (It doesn't have to rhyme.)

Since we are rhyming things we might say:

The turtle crawls,
The Germans run;
Buy more War Bonds
And beat the Hun!

If food will win the war I'm sure the names of the owners of Statesboro's victory gardens will go down in history.

A man went into one of the local banks the other day and presented his check. It so happened that none of the checks were good. The man looked at the teller and said:

"Tho' my heart won't stop aching,
You can keep it from breaking,
If you will just pay one of these checks I've been taking."

The poor fellow went out heart-broken.

I wish we could knock the Axis as cockeyed as some of our women's hats.
